

POWER ON: OCTOBER IS NATIONAL CO-OP MONTH

MY CO-OP

As an electric cooperative, our top priority is always to provide reliable, affordable energy to you, the consumer-members we serve. Because we are a co-op, our mission is to enrich the lives of our members and serve the long-term interests of our local community—and this mission has never been more critical than in recent months. One of the seven principles that guides all co-ops is “concern for community.” This principle is the essential DNA of Oconto Electric Cooperative, and it sets us apart from other electric utilities.

October is National Co-op Month, and electric cooperatives across the country are highlighting the many ways we “Power On.” (372702) Keeping this theme in mind, we recognize the essential role we play in serving a special community like ours.

Who would have fathomed in March that the COVID-19 virus would amount to a test of our community and our nation? The changing circumstances due to the pandemic have created both challenges and opportunities. Over the past several months, we’ve all been challenged to operate differently.

As an essential service, and to ensure reliability of your power supply, we modified our operations to safeguard business continuity. Our line crews and other employees began working on staggered schedules to maintain separation. Some staff worked remotely. In the office, we limited and modified meetings and gatherings to allow for safe separation. We closed our lobby and also adjusted our in-person service calls to ensure the health and safety of our employees and our valued members. In addition, we had to postpone our annual meeting, then later in the year held our first ever drive-in style annual meeting. For the health and safety of everyone, we think these measures were the prudent course of action for the times.

For our members impacted by COVID-19 who needed help with their electric bills, we waived late fees and worked with those hardest hit to make special payment arrangements.

We’ve seen other local businesses rising to meet similar challenges during this time, because that’s what communities do. While the challenges caused by COVID-19 have been daunting, we are heartened to see how everyone is pulling together.

In 1937, Oconto Electric Cooperative was built by the community to serve the community, and that’s what we’ll continue to do – Power On.

COMFORT PRO INSULATORS INC.

Comfort Pro Insulators, located at 804 West Frontier Road in Little Suamico, is one of our 27 members that have solar. Their solar system is estimated to generate 23,000 kWh annually. The average residential home uses 11,000 kWh per year.

Cooler weather is here! Heating requires more energy than any other system in your home, typically making up about 42% of your energy bill. With proper equipment maintenance and upgrades like additional insulation and air sealing you can save about 40% on your energy bill.

Meet our seasonal employee

Jake Baldwin recently graduated from Northeast Wisconsin Technical College from the electrical distribution program. During that time, the student is learning and applying electrical theory, as well as proper use of equipment and how to perform the tasks required of a line worker. Jake is currently working alongside our line crew as a seasonal employee.

Jake was the recipient of OEC's $2,500 scholarship in 2019 that is awarded to a student who will attend NWTTC in the electrical distribution program. (541501)
